

Ashfield Girls' High School

Relationships and Sexuality Education Policy

The School Ethos

“Each Different, Each Talented, All Valued”

School Mission Statement

Ashfield Girls’ High School aspires to help all members of the school community to improve the quality of their lives through learning, living, caring and the need to leave our mark on the world in which we live.

Introduction

The aim of Ashfield Girls' High School is to provide each student with a programme of education which meets their individual needs and prepares them for life beyond school. In seeking to fulfil this aim the school endeavours to promote self respect, self discipline and positive attitudes. As part of the curriculum there will be opportunities to develop skills promoting intellectual, social, emotional, aesthetic, spiritual and moral growth.

The Human Rights Act guarantees in Articles 8, 9, and 10:

- The Right to respect for private and family life
- Freedom of thought, conscience and religion
- Freedom of expression

The United Nations Convention on the Rights of a Child (1989) guarantees in Articles 2, 6, 12, 13, 16, 19 and 36:

- Non discrimination
- Right to life survival and development
- Right to express views freely in all matters affecting the child
- Right to access information
- Right to privacy
- Protection from harm

The Children (Northern Ireland) Order 1995

The welfare of the child must be the paramount consideration.

The School would seek to uphold these rights and provide an atmosphere where all may express their opinions and respect each other's values.

This Relationships and Sexual Education (RSE) policy reflects the ethos and principles of Ashfield Girls' High School, the views of pupils, teachers, parents, governors and the wider community.

Aim of the Policy

- To ensure that RSE enables our pupils to develop and maintain safe, healthy and satisfying personal relationships.
- To value and support school personnel involved in the planning and delivery of RSE
- To ensure that the planning and delivery of RSE reflects the ethos and values framework of our school

Relationships and Sexuality Education Team

- Principal
- Head of Learning for Life and Work (Personal Development Co-ordinator)
- Head of Pastoral Care
- Head of Junior School
- Board of Governor's representative
- Assistant Vice Principal for e-Learning
- School Nurse

Teacher representatives from Science, Religious Education, Physical Education, Drama, ICT and Home Economics departments may be invited to contribute to the team.

Legislative Context for RSE

In August 2015 the Northern Ireland Council for the Curriculum Examinations and Assessment. (CCEA) disseminated teacher 'Relationships and Sexuality Education Guidance'. DE Circular 2015/22 refers staff to this CCEA material.

In 2017 the Department of Education issued updated guidance on 'Safeguarding and Child Protection in Schools'. Section 8 of this document discusses the importance of the preventative curriculum through RSE.

Previously, in June 2013 the Department of Education issued Circular 2013/16 'Relationships and Sexuality Education Policy in School'. The Circular states that "The delivery of RSE must prepare pupils to view relationships in a responsible and healthy manner and should be taught in harmony with the ethos of the school and reflect the moral and religious principles held by parents and school management authorities'.

The Department requires each school to have in place its own written policy on how it will address the delivery of RSE. The policy should be the subject of consultation with parents and should be endorsed by the school's Board of Governors.

All staff should be familiar with the contents of the RSE policy. This policy takes account of the Equality Act 2006.

The Moral Framework of the Policy

We recognise that young people live in a diverse range of cultures, religions and family types. We recognise them as individuals with the right to be treated with respect and dignity regardless of their class, sexuality, culture, religion and gender. We are committed to an RSE programme which at all times will reflect the diversity and complexity of the lives and experiences of young people in our school and community.

We also recognise that at times there may be conflict between the different values systems and at all times, whilst respecting difference, we will uphold the ethos of the school and include it in all aspects of RSE teaching.

In Ashfield, we value:

- Stable family life, permanent loving relationships and the responsibilities of parenthood.
- The positive benefits seeking sexual fulfilment within a permanent, committed relationship with one person.
- The deferment of sexual activity; until young people are physically and emotionally mature enough to understand the inherent responsibilities.
- Abstinence as a positive and desirable option, which is an achievable reality to which young people can aspire.

Confidentiality

There is no statutory legislation relating specifically to confidentiality. Ashfield Girls' High school recognises that pupils need and expect a certain level of confidentiality, but as we have responsibility for the welfare and safety of young people within the school environment, it is not always possible to offer confidentiality.

It is essential that at all times confidentiality operates within the boundaries of the school's Child Protection Policy and the Children's (Northern Ireland) Order 1995. This is in addition to the guidance provided in 'Safeguarding and Child Protection in Schools'.

All teaching staff must follow the following procedures;

- Confidentiality must be discussed and clarified with pupils before beginning an RSE programme or one off session.
- Ground rules should be agreed with pupils.
- Pupils should be informed that there are instances when confidentiality cannot be held (for example in cases of suspected abuse). Pupils should be fully informed of action that will be taken.
- Pupils must be fully aware that they have the right to report inappropriate attitudes and/or behaviour by any member of the school community.
- Where teachers are unsure when confidentiality should not be maintained they should in the first instance consult a Designated Teacher.

Curriculum

Opportunities to explain the elements of RSE present themselves throughout the school curriculum. Encouraging discussion in the different subject areas helps place RSE in the context of life and social skills learning. This encourages young people to see it as an inherent part of human relationships and their own development. Relevant staff will review the Programme once a year to ensure that cross curriculum input is complementary and reflects the ethos of the school.

The following topics will be addressed in the RSE programme across the curriculum, predominantly through the school's Personal Development programme; but also through Science, Home Economics, Religious Education, Drama, ICT and Physical Education and through the school's pastoral system.

Teaching Methods

Ashfield Girls' is committed to providing an information rich learning environment, which best suits the needs of the pupils and provides opportunity for participation and engagement. This approach facilitates open discussion, peer mentoring, involvement and process providing opportunities for the development of social and life skills, and a values framework.

Teaching methods have been formed based upon guidance from the Department of Education, Education Authority, CCEA (Teaching Controversial and Sensitive Issues KS3 and KS4) and also from the Safeguarding Board NI.

The teaching method chosen will depend on the learning objectives:

- Information and knowledge based objectives need a variety of teaching and learning experiences e.g. mind mapping, questioning, discussion, reflection, and problem solving.
- Skills based objectives need participation and use of verbal and non-verbal communication. Useful methods include scenarios, role-play, investigation tasks, video and auditory recordings, any method that brings real life situations into the classroom.
- Values and attitudes objectives are best achieved through open discussion, developing talking and listening skills, building self-esteem and encouraging self-awareness and exploration and the development of the individual's values system. Methods include situation cards, voting buttons, circle time, personal charters, "agony aunt" role plays
- Whole groups' sessions including assemblies with specific organisations.

Students with Special Educational Needs will be provided with appropriate, accessible and relevant Relationships and Sexuality Education. Resources may be adapted to ensure there is no barrier to learning. Parents may be informed if certain topics are being covered that may raise concerns for their child.

It is widely recognised that pupils with Special Educational Needs are more vulnerable to all forms of abuse and exploitation. Staff will try to ensure that they develop the knowledge, understanding and skills of pupils to enable them to:

- identify inappropriate and exploitative behaviour;
- help develop their own prevention strategies to stay safe;
- recognise and build healthy relationships; and
- know who they can talk to.

Specific Issues

Issues such as sexual identity, female genital mutilation and abortion can attract a wide range of beliefs or values. The teaching of all issues including those that may be perceived as sensitive will be consistent with the ethos of the school. As these issues are perceived as sensitive, they will be delivered with the ethos of the school even though that may be a contradiction to the lifestyle or experiences of some pupils, parents or staff. The school must ensure that the pupils receive information that is balanced, non-judgemental and respectful of the diversity of values that are reflected in society.

External Agencies and Individuals

Ashfield Girls' recognises that the expertise of education and health professionals from statutory or voluntary bodies or individuals from the community can provide a value added dimension to the RSE programme.

Before agreeing to use an external agency or individual teachers must;

- Ensure that the agency or individual receives a copy of the school's RSE policy.
- Issues around confidentiality and the school ethos must be highlighted
- Ensure parental consent through agreement in writing for participation in any programme
- An appropriate teacher should be present
- Ensure that the input complements the schools RSE programme and will incorporate preparation and follow up activities
- Inform pupils of the purpose of the visit
- Ensure that the pupils evaluate the work

Advice may also be sought from other agencies such as the Education Authority or:

KOI (Knowing Our Identity) is a gender identity development service operated by the Belfast Health and Social Care Trust. The service is for children and adolescents (up to the age of 18) across Northern Ireland who are experiencing distress in relation to their gender identity development. The preferred referral route is through CAMHS (Child and Adolescent Mental Health Service), however other professionals, including education, as well as young people and their families can contact the service direct to discuss a possible referral. NIABF - the Northern Ireland Anti-Bullying Forum offers guidance on how to address all forms of bullying in schools and includes resources on homophobic bullying. www.endbullying.org.uk

Evaluation

The RSE panel will evaluate the provision for RSE within the school. Views of the whole school community will be sought and used to give informed feedback on an annual review of policy and practice.

The aim of the evaluation process will be to ensure that:

- The RSE policy continues to comply with guidelines/legislation
- Classroom practice continues to reflect the policy and the needs of pupils
- Teaching resources are reviewed and updated
- The views, thoughts and feelings are respected and will be used to influence the real needs of pupils rather than perceived needs
